DELPHINE HENNELLY

Born 1979, Vancouver, Canada
Lives and works in Canada

Delphine Hennelly received her BFA from Cooper Union in 2002 and her MFA from Mason Gross School of the Visual Arts at Rutgers University in New Jersey in 2017. At Rutgers, Delphine was the Tepper Family Scholarship recipient and upon graduation received The John I. Bettenbender Memorial Performance Award. Delphine is also a three-time recipient of The Elizabeth Greenshields Foundation Award. A painter and drawer and occasional printmaker, she explores figuration primarily using the female form. Often tongue in cheek her subjectivity can be sarcastic and humorous. Deeply influenced by formalism her palette, playful and saccharine, subverts the gendered proclivity pastel colours perpetuate while her compositions obfuscate the possibility of a linear narrative. Besides Girl Talk, the group show organized by Palazzo Monti (Brescia), among the last exhibitions in which Hennelly has participated are worth noting her solo show at Pt.2 Gallery (Oakland, California), as well as a group show at Mother gallery in Beacon, New York, and a two-person show with Milo Moyer-Battick at Harpy Gallery in New Jersey. Delphine's work has appeared in several publications including The Winter Edition, Issue 6, 2018, Art Maze Mag and Nut Publication. Her work will also be appearing in the New American Paintings Northeast Issue #134 out sometime late Spring 2018.
